MIDDLE GRADE - FICTION

BIG RIG Louise Hawes

Life on the road with Daddy is as good as it gets for Hazmat. Together, they've been taking jobs and crisscrossing the US for years. Now Daddy's talking about putting down roots – somewhere Hazmat can go to a real school and make friends. Somewhere Daddy doesn't have to mail-order textbooks about "nature's promise to all women." Somewhere Mom's ashes can rest on a mantle and not on a dashboard. While everything just keeps changing, sometimes in ways she can't control, Hazmat isn't ready to give up the freedom of long-distance hauling. Sure the road is filled with surprises, from plane crashes and robo trucks to runaway hitchhikers and abandoned babies, but that all makes for great stories! So Hazmat hatches a plan to make sure Daddy's dream never becomes a reality. Because there's only one place Hazmat belongs: in the navigator's seat, right next to Daddy, with the whole country flying by and each day different from the last.

BRAVO ZULU, SAMANTHA! Kathleen Benner Duble

Twelve-year-old Sam adores her grandmother, but Grandma will be at work most of the time during Sam's visit, leaving Sam with the Colonel, her prickly grandfather. Sam's relationship with him is shaky at best, and now that the Colonel has had to retire from his career as a military pilot, he is harder than ever to get along with.

Sam reluctantly settles in for the summer, entertaining herself with her nonstop collection of off-beat trivia and her obsession with the Guinness Book of World Records, with an on again/off again friendship with a boy from her school, and with keeping an eye on her grandfather's eccentric habits. Sam soon finds that her grandfather's behavior is even stranger than she expected. He disappears for long stretches of time and won't let Sam go into the old barn. She is eager to solve the mystery, but when she discovers that the Colonel is building an airplane against his wife's orders, she makes a deal with him. FLIPPING FORWARD TWISTING BACKWARD

Alma Fullerton

Claire is by far the best gymnast on her team, and she's well on her way to qualifying for the state championships. The gym is where Claire shines. But at school, she's known as a troublemaker. She seems to spend more time in the office than in class – which is fine with her since it enables her to hide the fact that she can't read. She has never been able to make sense of the wobbling jumble of letters on a page. No one except her BFF knows.

But when a sympathetic principal wonders if Claire is acting out because she's dyslexic, her mother balks. She's afraid Claire will be labeled "stupid" and refuses testing. Claire has always assumed she's dumb; she never imagined her reading problem could have a solution. Is she strong enough to take on both her reading challenges and her mother's denial? Is it worth jeopardizing her spot in qualifiers?

IMPOSSIBLE DESTINY OF CUTIE GRACKLE, THE

Shawn K. Stout

Cutie Grackle is used to being different – she lives alone on a mountain with her feeble-minded uncle, and when she's not sucking pebbles to trick her stomach into feeling full, she's chatting with a weathered garden gnome for company. But having a flock of ravens follow you is more than just different. Cutie worries the birds are connected to the curse Uncle Horace tends to mutter about. And she's right.

The ravens present her with a fortune from a cookie, and when she touches it she's pulled into a vision from her family's past. It involves the curse and her long-lost mother. The birds offer up a series of objects, each imbued with memories that eventually reveal Cutie must do what her mother could not: break the curse.

TWO FRIENDS, ONE DOG, AND A VERY UNUSUAL WEEK

Sarah L. Thomson / Vin Vogel

Take Pippi Longstocking's joie de vivre, blend it with a 21st century Manhattan setting, toss in a dog named Otto for good measure and what do you get? This joyfully carefree story about two unlikely friends.

It's a pair of silver sequined sneakers that unexpectedly flips Emily's comfortable, predictable world upside down. Or, more precisely, it's the girl wearing them. The shoes belong to Rani, who moves into Emily's apartment building – and her life – with absolutely no one but her dog Otto. (Her research scientist mother is away in Patagonia.) And that's only the first rule that Emily watches Rani break without hesitation.

But it's not just that Rani breaks rules. Most of the time, she doesn't seem to know the rules exist. Why can't she bungee jump off their building? Or bring an ice cream truck to school? For steady and orderly Emily, Rani's approach to life feels impossible... and more than a little irresistible. But is there a place for her in Rani's world? And should she find a way to make space for Rani in her own?

BOYS I KNOW
Anna Gracia

June Chu is the "just good enough" girl. Good enough to line the shelves with a slew of third-place trophies and steal secret kisses from her AP Bio partner, Rhys. But not good enough to meet literally any of her Taiwanese mother's unrelenting expectations or to get Rhys to commit to anything beyond a well-timed joke.

While June's mother insists she follow in her (perfect) sister's footsteps and get a (full-ride) violin scholarship to Northwestern (to study pre-med), June doesn't see the point in trying too hard if she's destined to fall short anyway. Instead, she focuses her efforts on making her relationship with Rhys "official." But after her methodically-planned, tipsily-executed scheme explodes on the level of a nuclear disaster, she flings herself into a new relationship with a guy who's not allergic to the word "girlfriend." But as the line between sex and love blurs, and pressure to map out her entire future threatens to burst, June will have to decide on whose terms she's going to live her life - even if it means fraying her relationship with her mother beyond repair.

IMMEASURABLE DEPTH OF YOU, THE

Maria Ingrande Mora

Fifteen-year-old Brynn is obsessed with death. Her anxiety focuses on all the ways the world can go wrong – car crashes, electrocution, choking – leaving her emotionally paralyzed, friendless, and depressed. So when her mom discovers one of Brynn's blog posts and believes it's a suicide note, she takes extreme measures, confiscating her phone, cutting off all access to the Internet, and sending Brynn to Florida to stay with her estranged father.

A summer at her dad's house isn't the peaceful escape Brynn wants. For one thing, it isn't even a house – it's a boat in the middle of a Florida swamp with no Wi-Fi, no TV, and no neighbors. Brynn is resigned to a summer of mind-numbing boredom...until Skylar appears.

Skylar is everything Brynn isn't – sultry, athletic, confident. And dead. Years earlier, Skylar drowned in the bay where the houseboat is anchored, and Brynn is the only one able to see her. While Skylar may not be the ideal friend her parents envisioned, Brynn relaxes around this girl who pushes her to try new things and makes her belly flutter with nerves that have nothing to do with anxiety. But when Skylar tells Brynn that her death wasn't the tragic accident everyone believes, but in fact a murder, Brynn is determined to help her new crush find closure – even if that means confronting all her fears.

While searching the Emporium for answers, Quinta and Twain learn that the secret may actually have been destroyed. And likely, for good reason.
