WHERE SHADOWS MEET

You have no idea what I've done for love. Just as you have no idea what you may one day do.

Once long ago, a girl named Favre sacrificed her wings for love. Thana, the young goddess she so willingly gave them up for, sacrificed that same love for power. But everything has a cost.

Favre never got over the loss of her wings. And Thana's choices led to a life of eternal night, and later, their destruction. Favre has bided her time ever since, waiting for the chance to resurrect the girl she loves who turned her into the creature she hates.

Now, a thousand years later, Leyla, the crown princess of the malichora—an ancient race that survives on human blood—must travel to the Island of the Dead when her best friend is captured during an attack on her nation's capital. Along with Najja, a fierce, beautiful seer, and the last person she expected to help her, Leyla forges down a dangerous path, intent on saving her friend. But nothing is as it seems. The closer she gets to her goal, the more she risks awakening an ancient evil and destroying everything she holds dear.

Set in the aftermath of a war between vampires, humans, and the gods that created them, Patrice Caldwell's devastatingly romantic fantasy debut, Where Shadows Meet, centers the heart-wrenching pain of loss and the struggle of self-discovery to ask: do we choose our fates, or do our fates choose us?

The dark and thrillingly romantic debut vampire fantasy that questions what it truly means to sacrifice for love.

LIAR'S KINGDOM

Can “happily-ever-after” start with a lie?

Ell DeBrun is the girl of the cinders. The girl who’s spent years slaving away for her cruel stepmother and ungrateful stepsisters, dreaming of rescue.

So when Prince Bayard - who seems to have difficulty recognizing faces - shows up at her door with a glass slipper in hand, Ell allows him to believe she is the girl he danced with at the grand ball.

There’s just one problem: Ell didn’t attend the ball and she’s never met the prince before in her life. But Ell is willing to concoct any fairy tale that will grant her an escape.

But Ell finds that fitting into royal life isn’t as easy as sliding into a glass slipper. Bayard’s sister, the crown princess, has gone missing.

The king is preparing for war with the sinister army of fae, Abd Maxim, Bayard’s treacherous (and unfortunately, terribly handsome) best friend, appears to know Ell’s secrets - and is just waiting for the most advantageous moment to call her bluff. As her lies pile up like unwashed plates, she knows they’re only seconds away from crashing down on her head.

CHRISTINE CALELLA

lives in a place she refers to as “New York City-adjacent.” She spends her spare time singing show tunes in the shower, drinking more chai lattes than is strictly necessary, and either over- or under-watering an unfortunate string of houseplants named after sitcom characters.

Brimming with romantic tropes including a smoldering enemies-to-lovers romace, backstabbing, and unrequited love -- all ending with unexpected yet satisfying happily-ever-afters, LIAR'S KINGDOM is a twisty Cinderella retelling in the vein of Into the Woods, Stepsister, and The Guinevere Deception with hints of The Cruel Prince.

TAKE A CHANCE ON ME

A heartbroken and betrayed Evie flees to London which brings her face to face with the person who has hurt her the most, her father. She doesn't want to open herself up again, until she meets a British busker who just may be worth taking a chance on . . . if she doesn't let her past get in the way of her future. The international bestselling author of Better Off Friends returns to form with a love story that's Once meets The Statistical Probability of Love at First Sight.

ELIZABETH EULBERG was born and raised in Wisconsin before moving to NYC to work in the publishing industry. She is the author of novels for teens and young readers, including internationally best-selling YA novels The Lonely Hearts Club and Better Off Friends, and the acclaimed Great Shelby Holmes middle-grade series. # WITTY IN PINK Blythe Rowley has everything—charm, a sharp wit, and a bookish nature. Well, almost everything. She could use some money, and if her mother has anything to say about it, the only way Blythe can save her family's struggling estate is by securing a rich husband. Blythe, however, has other ideas. Determined to forge her own path and control her destiny, Blythe has set up a budding apiary business. Spending the entire summer with her affluent cousin at Wrexford Park, Blythe believes that she will have ample opportunities to meet wealthy investors who will be intrigued by the business, even if it is one run by a young woman.

What she doesn't anticipate is the return of her childhood nemesis and new neighbor, Briggs Goswick. Briggs has money issues of his own, so even though the two can't stand each other, when he discovers her attempts to secure investors, Briggs offers her a deal that will benefit them both. If Blythe helps him win the heart of a wealthy but aloof young lady whose dowry is certain to be the cure to all of his monetary issues, then Briggs will introduce Blythe into society and be the front person to secure investors for her business. But the more time Blythe spends with Briggs, the closer they become, and the more she realizes that the one guy she can see herself with is the only one she can never have.

A DEATHLY COMPENDIUM OF POISONOUS PLANTS: WICKED WEEDS AND SINISTER SEEDS

"Should you encounter any of the plants in this book, do not treat them lightly. They can kill you. Or cause you unbearable agony. Or land you in jail. Consider yourself warned."

Science, history, mystery, and horror intersect in a brilliantly illustrated compendium that explains how certain plants evolved to avoid being eaten--and how their toxic chemicals have been used by humans for medicine, warfare, and sinister acts of foul play.

Award-winning science writer Rebecca E. Hirsch shines an informative and entertaining light on Mother Nature's ghoulish garden, from a hallucinogenic fungus linked to the Salem Witch Trials (ergot), to the weed that killed Abe Lincoln's mother (white snakeroot).

THE PAIRING

Theo and Kit have been a lot of things: childhood best friends, crushes, in love, and now estranged exes. After a brutal breakup on the transatlantic flight to their dream European food and wine tour, they exited each other's lives once and for all.

Time apart has done them good. Theo has found confidence as a hustling bartender by night and aspiring sommelier by day, with a long roster of casual lovers. Kit, who never returned to America, graduated as the reigning sex god of his pastry school class and now bakes at one of the finest restaurants in Paris. Sure, nothing really compares to what they had, and life stretches out long and lonely ahead of them, but—yeah. It's in the past.

All that remains is the unused voucher for the European tour that never happened, good for 48 months after its original date and about to expire. Four years later, it seems like a great idea to finally take the trip. Solo. Separately.

It's not until they board the tour bus that they discover they've both accidentally had the exact same idea, and now they're trapped with each other for three weeks of stunning views, luscious flavors, and the most romantic cities of France, Spain, and Italy. It's fine. There's nothing left between them. So much nothing that, when Theo suggests a friendly wager to see who can sleep with their hot Italian tour guide first, Kit is totally game. And why stop there? Why not a full-on European hookup competition?

But sometimes a taste of everything only makes you crave what you can't have.

THE LIAR'S CLUB

He's the former vice president's son. And my biggest bully. Cold. Cruel.

Devastatingly gorgeous.

The moment I walk on campus we lock eyes and I see the hatred burning in his gaze. Everyone at Winfield Academy despises us, especially him. No matter what I do, or how hard I try to avoid him, he won't leave me alone. What makes everything worse?

The night he kissed me—and I kissed him back.

He runs the student body with an iron-clad fist and expects me to be one of his dutiful followers, but I came to this school to learn something. To become something more. I'm not about to let him control me, though I can't deny the attraction growing between us.

Every single person at this school has secrets, even me, but I believe his are the biggest ones of all. When he warns me someone else on campus is guarding their own secrets, I realize he's serious. And they will do whatever it takes to stop me--us--from discovering them...

KATHERINE QUINN is an adult and young adult fantasy romance author. She graduated from the University of Central Florida with a degree in psychology. She resides in Houston with her husband and three children.

Her love for writing began after reading her first fantasy series, Song of the Lioness, by Tamora Pierce. After that, she wanted nothing more than to be a dagger-wielding heroine. Unfortunately, it's frowned upon to give a child a dagger, so she settled on writing about daring adventures instead.

Coffee is her true love, and she believes anything can be fixed with Starbucks and dark humor.

After escaping the mist, Selena and Jude are pursued by a vengeful god hell-bent on stopping them from breaking the curse that torments the realm, in this sequel to the highly anticipated debut YA fantasy, To Kill a Shadow...

ONE YEAR, ONE NIGHT (2ND ED)

It's never easy to go back, especially when the memories you've been running from suddenly resurface.

When Annie returns to her home village after a long absence, she rediscovers the diary she kept the year she turned 16, the year that changed her life. We follow Annie as she navigates a blossoming love story with a handsome soldier and her growing affection for an evacuee child. With tender and amusing moments, this story--set in a small English village during World War II--explores love, resilience, and loss with a fresh new voice.

LAURA MELONI was a successful novelist waiting to happen. The 73-year-old from Kingston upon Thames, who writes under the pseudonym of S. L. ROMAN, was a literary researcher and language teacher in her native Italy. Since her retirement, along with writing colleague Sarah Onions, Laura now spends her afternoons building plots and characters as well as historical research for era accuracy.

Laura, who lists Elena Ferrante, Hilary Mantel and Gianrico Carofiglio among her favourite authors, was initially inspired to write by her grandfather. Sarah had already written her family's tale with her journalist father and she learnt how to spot a good story. She grew up in Manhattan so both writers know what it was like to grow up abroad. But when it came to compiling this first book together they created a world rooted in southern England – in the Second World War. The writers constantly discussed and made notes to try and portray the life of a teenage girl called Annie who is thrown into running her family's shop, falling in love and caring for an evacuated boy. They decided to work on the novel because the original account of an unlucky boy just wouldn't go away. Now the pair know One Year One Night is here to stay.

In ravaged cities of the future, the oceans have risen and are poisonous to touch. Anyone who comes into contact with the water contracts the Blight, an inevitably fatal illness, making travel outside the high-rise homes of Horizon City a treacherous, often deadly prospect.

Scavengers of derelict parts of the city, skyclimber crews are athletic, fearless, and as tight-knit as it gets: their survival depends on their trust in each other. Moon is strong and sharp, a skyclimber rookie who's eager to prove herself.

After all, her crew are the only people she's got left -- well, except for Barker, a charismatic hacker who she flirts with online every day, but has never met.

But when Moon deals directly with a dangerous mad scientist in an attempt to turn a bigger profit for her crew, she breaks their rules, and loses their support. Unexpectedly alone, she reaches out to Barker, only to discover that he has been lying to her about his true identity.

Furious and heartbroken, she sets out on a perilous journey to confront him -- but what she finds is unimaginable. Their families share a complex and murky past, mired in bloody choices and long buried truths, that now threaten to rise to the surface and shake the foundations of Horizon City.

DOG TROUBLE

From the author of Horse Trouble comes a graphic novel perfect for fans of PAWS and Allergic!

Ash is a good kid at heart. But his grades are slipping, and when he gets caught vandalizing an old building, it's the last straw. It's decided: Ash will spend some time away from the city, at his dad's place on Ferncliff Island.

It's bad enough that Ash has no friends on the island (just an annoying little stepsister), but his parents are also making him do community service!

He volunteers at the local animal shelter, even though he's not really a dog person. Dogs slobber! They smell! And the dogs at the shelter bark, bark, and bark. But as Ash bonds with the dogs--especially Cooper, a clever, fun-loving pointer that gives sloppy kisses--he starts to see that maybe his time on Ferncliff Island isn't a total loss.

INFERNO'S HEIR

Teia Carthan abandoned her morals long ago, and now there's nothing she won't do to stay alive. So far she has survived her parents' deaths, the ire of the Council, and innumerable attempts on her life, orchestrated by Jura, her half brother and soon-to-be king of Erisia. Teia's rare control over two elements marks her as both an outsider and a formidable opponent--but once Jura is crowned king, there will be no way to survive him. Not for Teia, not for anyone.

When Jura moves to crush the rebellion that seeks to overthrow the monarchy, Teia sees one last opportunity to ensure her own safety. She can infiltrate the rebels, locate their base . . . and betray them to Jura, trading their lives for her own.

Yet when Teia meets the rebels, she gets far more than she bargained for. And when she gains not only their trust but their friendship, she begins to have doubts. Perhaps the rebels are right. Perhaps the Golden Palace should be torn down and the monarchy destroyed.

But then again--what if there is another possibility? What if Teia were on the throne instead?

REPEAT AFTER ME

Jenna wakes up on the morning of the 13th knowing today is the day she's going to lose her virginity to her longtime boyfriend, Auggie, while her senior class is on an island for their marine biology seminar. Except the day goes quickly off the rails—when Auggie has a severe allergic reaction to latex, instead of a romantic evening just the two of them, they contend with vomit and an EpiPen instead. She goes to sleep that night figuring she'll try again tomorrow.

Except she wakes up again...to the morning of the 13th. Everything unfolds eerily similar to how it had the night before. Suddenly she's in a time loop, forced to rehash her horrendous first time with her boyfriend again and again. Eventually, she's ready to try just about anything to escape, including a series of “first times” with different people that are at times hilarious, other times heartbreaking, other times a bit taboo, and always a bit sexy. What is causing her loop—is it the wrong way, the wrong guy, the wrong time? And can Jenna break the time loop before time runs out?

SWEET NIGHTMARE

Most schools are about being the best. This school? It's about being the worst. Calder Academy is where the rogue paranormals go. The ones who break the rules or lose control. And when that happens for vamps, werewolves, witches, and dark fae? It gets pretty freaking scary.

I should know. Because I'm trapped here.

Look, every seventeen-year-old girl thinks their mom is a tyrant. But mine just happens to run Calder Academy, which paints a giant target on my back. The way I make it through these dark halls is by steering clear of the things—and kids—who go bump in the night.

Especially Jude Abernathy-Li.

But when a freak storm hits our isolated island, I'm stuck without a backup plan. The power is gone. The lights are out. And our worst nightmares are suddenly real—and out for blood.

Now the only way to survive is to align myself with one evil to avoid the other.

And the only thing worse than the idea of getting close to Jude? Secretly loving every minute of it.

NYT & USA Today bestselling author TRACY WOLFF wrote her first short story—something with a rainbow and a prince—in second grade. By ten she'd read everything in the young adult and classics sections of her local bookstore, so in desperation her mom started her on romance novels. And from the first page of the first book, Tracy knew she'd found her life-long love. A one-time English professor with over fifty novels to her name, she now devotes most of her time to writing romance and dreaming up heroes. She lives in Austin, Texas, with her family.
